Singapore (8 August 2017) – Leading South Korean movie stars took the red-hot action off-screen and onto the red carpet at Marina Bay Sands for the Singapore premiere of Korean action-drama The Battleship Island this evening.

The integrated resort welcomed actors Song Joong Ki, Hwang Jung Min and So Ji Sub, along with the film’s director Ryoo Seung Wan, as they made a special appearance at the Mastercard Theatres for the private, red carpet event.
The Battleship Island is a 2017 South Korean film that tells the story about an attempted prison break from a forced labour camp on Hashima Island during the Japanese Occupation. The movie has conquered the South Korean box office, becoming the fastest film to cross the four-million audience mark this year. It officially opens in Singapore theatres on August 17.

The film is the latest movie project of Korean heartthrob Song Joong Ki, who is best known for his role in the hit drama Descendants of the Sun in 2016. He is currently ranked 2nd in the Forbes Korea Power Celebrity list 2017.

As Asia’s leading entertainment destination, Marina Bay Sands plays host to international movie premieres and press tours for blockbuster movies and exhibitions. The Battleship Island premiere is the third red carpet event to be hosted by the integrated resort this year, following the Spider-man: Homecoming red carpet at ArtScience Museum and Downton Abbey: The Exhibition red carpet at Sands Expo and Convention Centre in June.
